

Eren Halil Özberk works as an Education and Training Planner in Hacettepe University Monitoring and Evaluation Office. He received his MS degree in Educational Measurement and Evaluation, Hacettepe University in 2012. He is currently enrolled as a PhD student in Hacettepe University Educational Measurement and Evaluation since 2012. He has been studied as a visiting scholar in University of North Carolina Greensboro. His research focuses on multidimensional item response theory, unidimensional and multidimensional computer adaptive testing, hierarchical linear modeling and R programming.

Elif Bengi Ünsal Özberk works as a unit supervisor in Measurement and Evaluation Office in Ministry of Justice Staff Training Center. She received her Bachelor degree in Department of Psychology, Ankara University in 2009 and MS degree in Educational Measurement and Evaluation, Hacettepe University in 2012. She is currently enrolled as a PhD student in Department of Measurement and Evaluation, Ankara University since 2012. She has been studied as a visiting scholar in University of North Carolina Greensboro. Her research focuses on psychological tests, differential item functioning and structural equating modeling.

